EDITORIALS

Change sweeps in

The political scene in Missouri is undergoing a major transformation, with the Democratic Party in disarray and new political forces emerging. The recent election results have shown a significant shift in voter sentiment, with the Republican Party gaining ground in both state and local elections.

Don't make it a habit

Evelyn Womer seems to have done the same thing for the right reasons.

The minister of state for immigration and health has not had a consistent position on the issue of immigration, but her new position as a minister for health and community services will be a welcome change.

LETTERS

We can't afford largesse

I was astonished and outraged to read the October 8, 1984, episode of "The Tonight Show" featuring Mr. Mondale's C.I.A. story. It was nothing more than a thinly disguised effort to cover up the government's failure to control the flow of arms to Iran.

Keep children off street

If one walks through a toy store in 1984, it is obvious that we are seeing more consumerism than ever before for our children's safety. Toys, clothes, and shoes are being advertised to sell as fast as possible.

S Sinclair Stevens after resigning from Cabinet from May 12.

What will Tories try next?

The federal government, under the leadership of Mr. Trudeau, is considering a number of steps to address the growing unemployment problem.

Keep children off street

If one walks through a toy store in 1984, it is obvious that we are seeing more consumerism than ever before for our children's safety. Toys, clothes, and shoes are being advertised to sell as fast as possible.

S Sinclair Stevens after resigning from Cabinet from May 12.

What will Tories try next?

The federal government, under the leadership of Mr. Trudeau, is considering a number of steps to address the growing unemployment problem.

Keep children off street

If one walks through a toy store in 1984, it is obvious that we are seeing more consumerism than ever before for our children's safety. Toys, clothes, and shoes are being advertised to sell as fast as possible.

S Sinclair Stevens after resigning from Cabinet from May 12.

What will Tories try next?

The federal government, under the leadership of Mr. Trudeau, is considering a number of steps to address the growing unemployment problem.

Keep children off street

If one walks through a toy store in 1984, it is obvious that we are seeing more consumerism than ever before for our children's safety. Toys, clothes, and shoes are being advertised to sell as fast as possible.

S Sinclair Stevens after resigning from Cabinet from May 12.

What will Tories try next?

The federal government, under the leadership of Mr. Trudeau, is considering a number of steps to address the growing unemployment problem.

Keep children off street

If one walks through a toy store in 1984, it is obvious that we are seeing more consumerism than ever before for our children's safety. Toys, clothes, and shoes are being advertised to sell as fast as possible.

S Sinclair Stevens after resigning from Cabinet from May 12.

What will Tories try next?

The federal government, under the leadership of Mr. Trudeau, is considering a number of steps to address the growing unemployment problem.

Keep children off street

If one walks through a toy store in 1984, it is obvious that we are seeing more consumerism than ever before for our children's safety. Toys, clothes, and shoes are being advertised to sell as fast as possible.

S Sinclair Stevens after resigning from Cabinet from May 12.

What will Tories try next?

The federal government, under the leadership of Mr. Trudeau, is considering a number of steps to address the growing unemployment problem.